Introduction

This book assembles together all the known wills and administrations of the Latter families of East Sussex before 1858, after which the Church of England probate courts were replaced by the Principal Probate Registry. It cannot be guaranteed that this is the complete set and future revised editions may be needed to incorporate new discoveries, including non-Latter wills that contain valuable Latter information.

The book provides three indexes which offer great value to Latter researchers. The indexes are:

1. Wills by location.
2. Index of names occurring in the wills and in associated documents relevant to that will. These additional documents have generally been found by searching the ESRO on-line catalogue which often provides a detailed summary of the document's contents including names, dates and places.
3. Index of locations, local place names and properties mentioned in the wills and in associated documents.

These indexes have already facilitated the search for connected wills; that is, wills belonging to one extended family, sometimes a number of generations apart. Each will in this book includes a family tree placing the will in context and highlighting how other wills are connected. The trees are based on many years of research using primarily the Sussex Family History Group baptisms, marriages and burials indexes and are also based on the information gleaned from the Latter wills.

Some of the Latter family trees identified in this document remain "islands" waiting to be connected into a bigger structure. For this to happen, work needs move on from the wills and parish registers to other areas such as the history of Latter property ownership and manorial records where they exist. Many of the Latter families have connections to the county of Kent and further progress will also require much work on the Latter families there.

The author has been a long-time contributor to the Sussex Family History Group Wills Depository project which now has over 13,000 Sussex wills transcribed that are available to members free of charge. All the wills in this book have been contributed to the Wills Depository.

Conventions

The following conventions are used throughout this book:

1. The dates shown in the will titles are the probate dates, not the date the will was made (unless there is no probate date). To remove confusion, the year between 1st January and 25th March is written as, for example, 1592/93 wherever possible. Some historians want to leave it as written in the original document (e.g. 1592) and others (in the ESRO catalogue for example) write it as we would today; 1593.
2. In the indexes, all variants of the name Latter have been standardised to "Latter" to simplify use of the index. The original spelling of surnames is retained in the will transcriptions.
3. The family trees only show the year of events such as baptisms, marriages and deaths/burials. This has been done to simplify the appearance of the tree so the relationship between the people who left wills/admons is more clearly seen. Anyone with a special interest in a particular tree should verify the dates for themselves. The author is happy to provide charts with full dates for anyone interested (see contact details inside front page). Information concerning any errors or new evidence affecting family tree structures would be welcomed.

Chapter 1 - The Main Family Trees

This section presents the main Latter family trees associated with the Latter wills. The people who left wills/admons are highlighted in each tree which then form a visual index for related wills. These trees are an important part of this book and are the product of many years of research and analysis of parish registers (mostly the SFHG indexes), census records, miscellaneous documents and, of course, the Latter wills. All places are in Sussex except where shown.

It is not possible to put together a single, large Latter family tree and the trees presented below are just pieces in the overall jigsaw. Many of these families have connections to the county of Kent and so require further research there. In some cases there are smaller family clusters which are not documented here in Chapter 1 but instead have been documented with the relevant will. It is possible that further research will enable some of these to be attached to the larger trees in the future.

It is interesting to note that a Richard Latter is mentioned in manorial court records for Walsh's manor in Rotherfield on 4 May 1464 and 11 Jul 1467, suggesting the family has some deep roots in the Rotherfield area.¹

Tree 1. Edmund Latter of Rotherfield and Tonbridge (c1550-)

The Edmund Latter (c1550-) in Tree 1 below is the author's 11x great grandfather and was the motivation to do the research into the Latter wills of East Sussex. He was identified in the Rotherfield manorial records when he gave the property called Salters to his son Edmund upon his marriage to the widow Agnes Alchorne (nee A'Downe) on 7 Dec 1602. The manorial records record the transfer:

At this court it is found that Edmund Latter out of court since last court Nov 4th, 45 Eliz [1602] surrendered 1 messuage, 1 barn with garden & 2 pieces or parcels of land containing 4 acres lying at Town Rowe with appurtenances except 1 garden called le forge garden To use of said Edmund Latter his son & Agnes Alchorne widow & the heirs of said Edmund his son But his admission is postponed till next court. And nothing falls for heriot because he remains tenant

+ (--?--)

² William received the property called Salters from his father in 1638. William died intestate in 1640 and under customary law, daughter Agnes was heir but she died in 1645, so his wife Elizabeth had right of possession until her death and then it would pass to William's brother John. However, John died before Elizabeth, so the heir to the property became John's son, Edmund, but he also died before Elizabeth. After Elizabeth's eventual death in 1680, the manorial court transferred the property to Edmund's brother, John Latter (1654-c1700). He had no children and transferred the property in 1696 to Elizabeth Hutchinson, wife of Thomas Hutchinson. The Salters property had been in the Latter family for 100 years (1595-1695).

³ Richard Latter is mentioned as a brother to Edmund Latter (c1575-1656) in Edmund's will, hence his inclusion on this tree. His baptism may be: 3 Dec 1587 Richard Latter son of Edm. at Tonbridge, Kent.

Tree 2. John Latter of Rotherfield (c1575-)

It is reasonable to assume that this family tree connects to Tree 1 at some earlier time. It is even likely that the John Latter (c1575-1662) who starts this tree is a son of Edmund Latter (c1550-) who starts Tree 1. Various documents suggest a close connection between John Latter (c1575-1662) and Thomas Barber who later married into the Latter family in Tree 1:⁴

Messuage in town of Rotherfield, with barns, buildings, closes, gardens, etc, belonging (South: High Street; West: messuage and garden of Nicholas Fowle, gent; North and East: messuage and lands of Thomas Barber) in tenure of Thomas Latter (one acre) the messuage formerly of Nicholas Alchorne and conveyed by him to Jane Fowle, and by Jane Fowle to John Baker, and by John Baker to Stephen Baker

[Two days later, on 7 Sep 1639, this property was transferred to John Latter's son Thomas (1610-1675)]

In 1639 Thomas Barber married Ann Heath [nee Latter] widow of William Heath and daughter of Edmund Latter (c1575-1656) in Tree 1, suggesting a kinship connection between the two trees.

It would not be unreasonable to assume that John Latter (c1675-1662) is the son of Edmund Latter in Tree 1, however there is no direct evidence so his tree has been kept separate. The argument is strengthened by the names of John Latter's children being very consistent with the names in Tree 1 (i.e. Edmund, Richard, Ann, Alice, John).

⁵ There is a marriage settlement between Thomas Latter and Mary Coe (who brought £100 into the marriage): 7 Jun 1680: Thomas Latter of Rotherfield, butcher, to William Coe of Rotherfield, yeoman, and his eldest son and heir apparent, Richard Coe: Messuage, barn, garden, orchard, Hemp Plot, in town of Rotherfield, occupied by Thomas Latter (South: King's highway through town of Rotherfield; West: messuage and garden of Humphrey Fowle; North and East: messuage and backside of Edmund Latter), to use of Thomas Latter for life, and after to Mary Latter for life for her jointure, and after to their heirs. (ESRO: SAS/AB/406)

⁶ Mary Coe's parentage was difficult to trace, but the key is the will of her father, William Coe of East Peckham, Kent, made 30 Jan 1700/01, proved 8 Feb 1700/01. (Lambeth Palace Library: VH 96/3670)

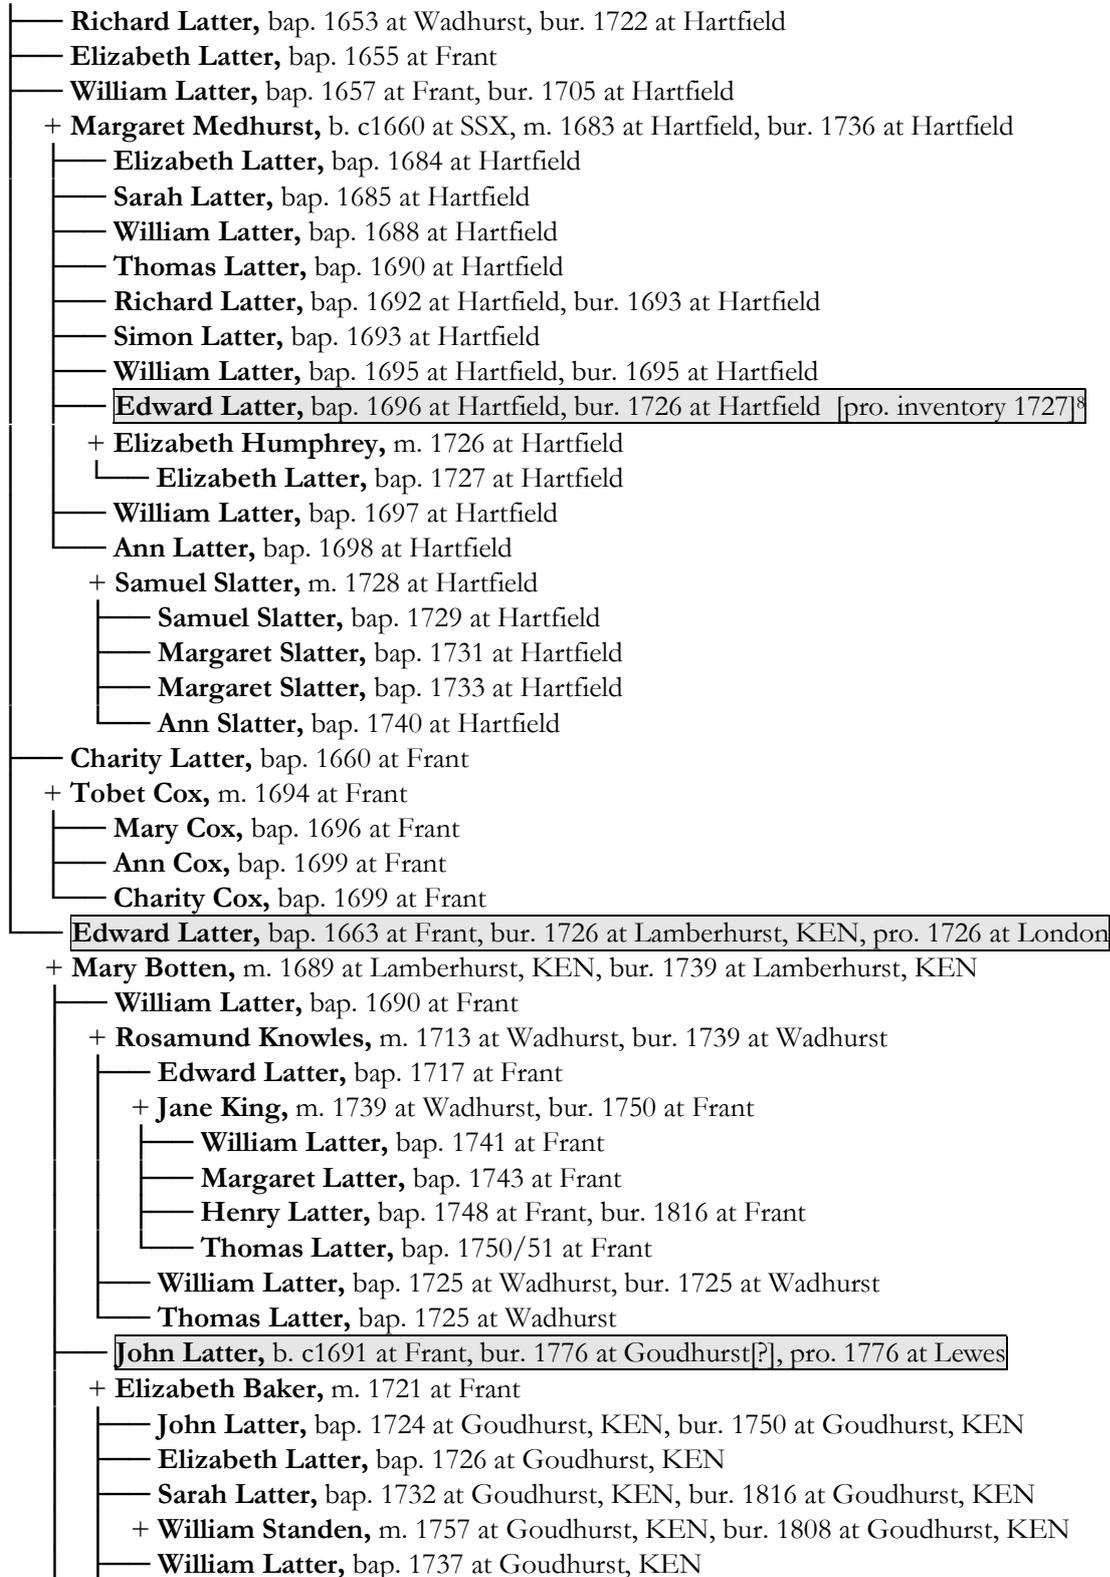

⁷ The family emigrated to Annapolis, Maryland, USA about 1795. Hannah died around that time, either in England, in transit to America or in Maryland. Descendants of James and Hannah survive today in the USA.

Tree 5. Latter Family of Ringmer and Eastbourne (c1650- 1800)

It would be very difficult to extend this tree back further as there are many candidates for a John Latter born c1650. However, the line is likely to originate at Rotherfield where most of these candidates were baptised. In any event, the Latter name dies out in this tree with the death of John Latter in 1775 and his widow Elizabeth in 1795 at Eastbourne.

Tree 6. Lotter Family of Cowfold and Upper Beeding (c1600- 1700)

Research into the will of Thomas Lotter, husbandman of Upper Beeding, 1669 revealed that this family surname was actually Lotter in the parish registers over a number of generations. It may have its origins as a variant of Latter. The will for Thomas's niece, Ann Lotter of Cowfold, 1702 has also been included in this book.

Edmund Latter was buried 11 May 1656 at Tonbridge, Kent.

1. The daughter Alice mentioned in the above will as being married to Henry Marten helped to confirm the link to Rotherfield, as Alice Latter married Henry Martin in Rotherfield on 26 January 1624.
2. The daughter Anne married Thomas Barber alias Nynne on 7 March 1639 at Frant, Sussex. Thomas died in 1649 (buried Rotherfield 21 May 1649) and Anne subsequently married Samuel Theobald, a clothier, sometime between 1650 and 1661. Although the marriage record has not been found, we know it occurred because on 7 Jan 1661/62 Anne's son Thomas Barber leases the cottage in Rotherfield Town and the Drapers land from Ann and her third husband, Samuel Theobald, who were occupying it: "7 Jan 1661/62 Lease by Samuel Theobald of Tonbridge, Kent, clothier and Ann his wife, to Thomas Barber alias Nine, of Frant, Sussex, then servant to Thomas Weller, gent., of a messuage or tenement, outhouse, barn and stall and a small piece of land lying near the said barn, together with all gardens, closes, backside, etc. in Rotherfield Town. Also, 4 pieces of land and wood containing 22 acres, called Draperys in Rotherfield; all which premises the said Samuel held by right of An his wife made to her by jointure and lease from Thomas Barber alias Nine, her former husband, father of the above named Thomas. Term, the life of the said Ann Theobald party to the deed and mother of the said Thomas: rent yearly 11 pounds/5s. Signature of Samuel Theobald, and mark of Ann Theobald & seals. Witnesses: William Jeffrey, Ann Barber (mk)".¹⁰

Edmund Latter was given the property called Salters in Rotherfield by his father (also an Edmund Latter) on his marriage to the widow Agnes Alchorne [nee A'Downe]. It was probably part of a marriage settlement (agreement). The manorial records record the transaction:

¹⁰ Sussex Archaeological Society, Transcription, 7 Jan 1661/2, Rotherfield, Sussex, England (East Sussex County Record Office, SAS FA 781).

At this court it is found that Edmund Latter out of court since last court Nov 4th, 45 Eliz [1602] surrendered 1 messuage, 1 barn with garden & 2 pieces or parcels of land containing 4 acres lying at Town Rowe with appurtenances except 1 garden called le forge garden To use of said Edmund Latter his son & Agnes Alchorne widow & the heirs of said Edmund his son But his admission is postponed till next court. And nothing falls for heriot because he remains tenant

1603

At this court comes Edmund Latter & Agnes now his wife & pray out of the lord's hand a messuage, a barn, a garden & 2 parcels of land containing 4 acres lying at Town Rowe with appurtenances in Rotherfield except a garden called Forge garden which formerly came into the lord's hand by the surrender of Edmund Latter father of the son Edmund to the use of the said Edmund the son & Agnes To which said Edmund Latter the son & Agnes his wife the lord at this court grants seisin by the rod etc. And they give the lord for fine £6[?] etc.

Note: This entry is difficult to date from Pullein's transcription but must be after Edmund Latter's marriage to Agnes Alchorne on 7 Dec 1602. It is after a View of Frankpledge court held 7th May 1603.¹¹

At the Rotherfield manorial court held 27 Apr 1638, Edmund Latter transferred the property called Salters at Townrowe [Town Row] in Rotherfield to his son William Latter & Elizabeth his wife & his lawful heirs. William Latter had married Elizabeth Coe on 30 May 1637. It is possible that this is the time when Edmund moved to Tonbridge, where he died in 1656.

Jane Kneller was buried on 5 Jan 1762 at St Mary, Eastbourne ("widow").

(SFHG Indexes)

The following document provides valuable genealogical information about Gregory's wife Jane Goffe and tells us that Gregory Latter was a tailor:

Goffs Malthouse in Eastbourne, assigned to Nicholas Gilbert IV by the mortgagee in possession

Date: 1777

East Sussex Record Office: GIL 1/9

Description:

1. Malthouse with a garden plot at or near Upperton Stream to the west and north, in Eastbourne (203 on GIL/3/17/1)
2. Toft, garden plot and piece of land adjoining the malthouse and the road from Eastbourne Town to Upperton House

Richard Goff, mariner, died in 1718 holding premises 1 above, a parcel of freehold land at Wormy (2 acres), a piece of land (1 acres) held of the manor of Eastbourne Gildredge in Eastbourne and a messuage, barn and land (16 acres) in Jevington, held of the manor of Jevington; all the property had been held by his mother Elizabeth, the only daughter and heiress of Nicholas Pepper of Eastbourne, yeoman (1).

Premises 2 above had been conveyed to Goff's brother-in-law Gregory Latter in 1716 and passed at his death to his son John, an infant aged 10 [aged 1 year actually] (2).

On Richard Goff's death 1 above passed to his wife Frances but her estate was challenged by Goff's only sister Jane, the wife of Gregory Latter, tailor. In 1723 an agreement was drawn up whereby Frances was to have premises 1 and Jane the 2 acres at Wormy. Premises 1 were therefore conveyed by Jane Latter to Frances Goff immediately, but it was agreed that premises 2 should be conveyed to her when John reached 21 (1-2).

In 1736 therefore, John Latter, now a farmer of Eastbourne, conveyed the property to Samuel Williams of London, carpenter, the only son and devisee of Frances Goffe, who had made her will at Bermondsey in 1724 (3-5). Williams, of St Mildred Bread Street, sold both properties to Jane Townsett of Eastbourne, widow, in 1736 (6-7). On her death in 1750 the property, now called Goffs Malthouse (abutting the highway west and north and a narrow lane leading into Hartfield on the east) passed by her will (in which she describes herself as widow and innkeeper) to her son John, with remainder to his son John (8).

In 1761 John Townsett the elder of Eastbourne, maltster and John Townsett the younger of Eastbourne, farmer, mortgaged the property for 60 to Mary Gilbert (1733-1811) of Eastbourne, spinster (10). She entered into possession and took the profits and assigned the mortgage to her brother Nicholas Gilbert in 1777 (11).

Relevant Events

John Latter was buried 29 Dec 1755 at St Mary Eastbourne.
He was baptised at Ringmer on 24 Sep 1682, the son of John Latter and Elizabeth Wilding.
It appears he never married.

His nephew John Latter, executor of the above will, is the son of the testator's brother, Gregory Latter and his wife Jane Goffe. Gregory was baptised on 8 Mar 1680 at Ringmer. The nephew John Latter of Eastbourne left a will proved in 1775.

It would appear that John Latter the testator also had a sister Ann Latter who married Joseph Attree on 12 May 1709 at St John sub Castro, Lewes. However, there is no baptism for her in the SFHG index and the marriage to Joseph Attree in 1709 does not record her surname. However, in the above will, John Latter the testator records the children of Joseph and Ann Attree as his heirs in a similar manner to the children of his brother, Gregory Latter.

The following documents mention John Latter:

Sixteen sheep leazes on Eastbourne Tenantry Down, purchased by Nicholas Gilbert IV from John Latter's legatees

Date: 1793

East Sussex Record Office: GIL 1/22

Description:

By his will of 1774, John Latter of Eastbourne gave all his property to his wife Elizabeth for life, with remainder to Thomas Chapman of Lambeth (later of Rotherhithe), schoolmaster and William Smith of Hastings, carpenter in trust to sell and pay two thirds to his sister Mary Waters of Hastings, widow, with remainder to her two daughters Mary and Jenny, and one third to his niece Jane, wife of Charles Parsons of Southover, bricklayer (1).

Mary Waters died in 1778 and the trustees sold the estate for 1010. In 1793 the beneficiaries - Mary now wife of Thomas Woodhams of Hastings and Jenny now wife of Charles Skinner of Rye, farmer, and Jane Parsons of Lewes, widow - received their legacies from William Smith (1).

An endorsement on the release indicates that Nicholas Gilbert IV purchased the sixteen sheep leazes from the beneficiaries at the same time (1).

Goffs Malthouse in Eastbourne, assigned to Nicholas Gilbert IV by the mortgagee in possession

Date: 1777

East Sussex Record Office: GIL 1/9

Description:

1. Malthouse with a garden plot at or near Upperton Stream to the west and north, in Eastbourne (203 on GIL/3/17/1)
2. Toft, garden plot and piece of land adjoining the malthouse and the road from Eastbourne Town to Upperton House

Richard Goff, mariner, died in 1718 holding premises 1 above, a parcel of freehold land at Wormy (2 acres), a piece of land (1 acres) held of the manor of Eastbourne Gildredge in Eastbourne and a messuage, barn and land (16 acres) in Jevington, held of the manor of Jevington; all the property had been held by his mother Elizabeth, the only daughter and heiress of Nicholas Pepper of Eastbourne, yeoman (1).

Premises 2 above had been conveyed to Goff's brother-in-law Gregory Latter in 1716 and passed at his death to his son John, an infant aged 10 [aged 1 year actually] (2).

On Richard Goff's death 1 above passed to his wife Frances but her estate was challenged by Goff's only sister Jane, the wife of Gregory Latter, tailor. In 1723 an agreement was drawn up whereby Frances was to have premises 1 and Jane the 2 acres at Wormy. Premises 1 were therefore conveyed by Jane Latter to Frances Goff immediately, but it was agreed that premises 2 should be conveyed to her when John reached 21 (1-2).

In 1736 therefore, John Latter, now a farmer of Eastbourne, conveyed the property to Samuel Williams of London, carpenter, the only son and devisee of Frances Goffe, who had made her will at Bermondsey in 1724 (3-5). Williams, of St Mildred Bread Street, sold both properties to Jane Townsett of Eastbourne, widow, in 1736 (6-7). On her death in 1750 the property, now called Goffs Malthouse (abutting the highway west and north and a narrow lane leading into Hartfield on the east) passed by her will (in which she describes herself as widow and innkeeper) to her son John, with remainder to his son John (8).

In 1761 John Townsett the elder of Eastbourne, maltster and John Townsett the younger of Eastbourne, farmer, mortgaged the property for 60 to Mary Gilbert (1733-1811) of Eastbourne, spinster (10). She entered into possession and took the profits and assigned the mortgage to her brother Nicholas Gilbert in 1777 (11).
